EAST-MEETS-WEST EXPERIMENTAL PHENOMENON SIENNÁ RETURNS WITH AN IMMERSIVE 9-TRACK ALBUM "EMA"

By Sistra News Team - October 5, 2026

OSLO, NORWAY – A prominent Japanese electronic music artist, producer, and songwriter SIENNÁ announces her anticipated 7th full album, EMA, scheduled for release on Wednesday, September 23, 2026.

One of the most avant-garde electronic music artists is back. It will mark the first release of music from the Japanese experimental phenomenon in Norway since the 2023 album 'Wa Kei-Sei-Jyaku'.

The brand-new album 'EMA' is a collection of 9 image-to-sound syntheses about the interconnectedness of all things from her perspective. As EMA is a tool to communicate directly with the divine within the Japanese spiritual context, this album became her way of writing down the messages from the natural world.
"My songwriting locations for this album were Kibune Valley in Kyoto and Ischia Island. The ideas fell down from the sky while walking alone in the tranquil mountainous forests. I wanted to draw what I perceived in a sketchbook, but I wrote songs instead because I´m not a good drawer," she smiles.

Created around themes of resilience and self-belief, the lead single "Be A Seeker, Believer" is highlighted in album promotions for aiming to restore the hope in this beautiful but sad world. The video is now available for streaming on YouTube HERE.

ABOUT SIENNÁ

Sienná is a Kyoto-born, Oslo-based experimental electronic music artist, producer, and composer.
Known for her "East-meets-West" sound and "no rules" composition philosophy. Her work avoids mainstream pop trends, favoring an experimental, genre-defying approach that incorporates classical instrumentation, jazz, and Japanese aesthetic concept, such as wabi-sabi.

Active across Europe for over many years as a live electronic act and DJ. Collaborated and performed alongside prominent international musicians, including Norwegian psychedelic jazz trumpeter Nils Petter Molvær, late English bassist Mick Karn, and The Crazy World of Arthur Brown.
